Wrangell Will Celebrate 4th.

A public meeting was held last Monday afternoon for the purpose of deciding whether Wrangell should have a celebration this fourth of July or not. A good crowd attended. Mayor Grant called the meeting to order and on motion Mr. P. C. McCormack was elected chairman of the meeting and Paul F. Stanhope secretary. Mr. McCormack stated that the first thing was for the meeting to decide if they want a celebration or not, and Mr. Wm. Thomas made a motion to the effect that Wrangell shall celebrate this year, the motion was seconded and carried. And another motion was made that the chairman of the meeting appoint a committee of three for ways and means for the celebration and Chairman McCormack appointed as that committee, J. G. Grant, chairman, J. H. Wheeler and Harry Gartley, and as Mr. Gartley withdrew Paul Stanhope was appointed in his place. There being no further business to come before the meeting a motion to adjourn carried.

Valdez has discovered a short cut to the head of Cook inlet via Portage bay.

George Vogal, postmaster at Haines, has tendered his resignation to the department.

Big River Boat On First Trip

The big Hudson Bay steamer "Port Simpson" arrived up from the south last Monday to make her trips on the Stikine. The vessel loaded on about eighty tons of freight and left for Telegraph at an early hour this morning. She has sixteen passengers for up river points. The Port Simpson will probably only make two trips this season and expects to leave on the next one in about ten days.

Canadian Government Men Pass Through

Among the passengers on the Port Simpson for Telegraph are A. M. Tyson the well known Canadian Indian Agent and Dr. J. A. J. McKenna representing the Dominion Government in Indian affairs and D. H. MacDowell representing the Provincial Government in Indian affairs; who are on their way to inspect the Indian Agency at Telegraph Creek. They are accompanied by their secretary J. S. McArthur.

Title to the famous Cliff mine is involved in a suit to be tried in the federal court at Valdez.

Fish Shipments For April

During the month of April the following amounts of fresh fish, exclusive of halibut, which are shown elsewhere, were received at Seattle from Alaska: Salmon, 480,300 pounds; trout, 9,700 pounds; rock cod, 400 pounds; black cod, 1600 pounds and steelhead trout, 2,220 pounds. In addition the halibut fleet during the same period landed at Seattle 21,000 pounds of black cod and 4,000 pounds of ling cod.

During the month of April the following quantities of salt fish were received at Seattle from Alaska points: Salmon, 11 barrels; rock cod, 400 pounds; black cod, 92 barrels; black cod in boxes, 1,850 pounds; herring, 71 barrels; fletcher halibut, 1,600 pounds; grey cod, dry-salted, 106,000 pounds. Of the herring 64 barrels represent a shipment which started last fall from Nome on the power vessel Silver Wave, which was so badly damaged on the way that she was compelled to tie up at Sand Point, Alaska, until repairs could be made. —Pacific Fisherman.

A Cordova paper declares that the government might stop the rush to Seward by announcing that only Alaskans need apply.

Large List On B II Funds

Wrangell will have her first game of base ball on the 4th of July if the plans of the committee in charge of the work on the new grounds can be carried out. A trail has been cut from the beach up to the grounds and the street committee of the city council will put in a walk to the grounds so that from now on it will be one of the finest walks for an evening so it will be of interest to you to take a walk up there and inspect the new grounds. Making Directory Of Alaska Mines

The Editor of the Alaska and Northwest Mining Journal has asked the help of the Sentinel in an effort to get a complete list of the mining properties of the Wrangell Mining District which will be placed in a directory of the mines of the Territory and for that purpose we have a number of blanks to be filled out by mining men so if you are interested in any of the properties of the district see that we get your statement and help in the work of boosting the mining of the Wrangell District.

Monument For Dead Wireless Heroes

A large monument drinking fountain was dedicated in New York on May 12 to the wireless heroes who have lost their lives in their calling. On the side of the monument is the names of the heroes, their vessels and date of their disaster. The list is headed by the name of George C. Eccel, of the Ohio, which went down in Alaskan waters on August 26, 1909. Others of the list who lost their lives in Alaskan waters are Donald C. Perkins, of the State of California, August 18, 1913, and Walter F. Reker, of the Admiral Sampson, August 25, 1914.

Get the habit, the Rink.

A good show at the Photoshow tonight.

Union Memorial Services Held

Union Memorial Day services were held at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening. All of the churches took part in the service. An address was delivered by Mr. Gray, and the scripture reading and prayer by Capt. Smith of the Salvation Army, and the sermon was delivered by Rev. Clark. The meeting was very interesting and beneficial to the large attendance.

Will Start Pig Ranch Up River

The Winifred of the Cassiar Transportation Company, will leave in the morning for Telegraph. She has a good load of freight and two passengers for up river points. Among her freight are eight little pigs for Frank Calbreth, these are the first that has ever been sent up the river and it is believed that Mr. Calbreth will make a success of his new venture.

In accord with the eternal fitness of things, Skagway has a drugist whose name is "Bonebrake".

Seward took her stand on the side of the wets by a vote of 362 wets; 105 dries and 32 refusing to vote.

Another New Line Coming

From San Francisco comes the story that a steamship company hitherto an unknown quantity in the Northern trade has completed arrangements for a direct ocean service between the Golden Gate and Southwestern Alaskan ports. The announcement to this effect was made last week by the trade extension division of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. Formal announcement of the first sailing date will be made within a week.

All of the Alaska freight now comes directly to Seattle and is either transhipped or sent by railroad to California. Whether the new line would get enough freight to make a direct service worth while is the question raised by local shippers who have heard of the proposition. —(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)

The Ketchikan grand jury in its final report handed bouquets to all of the officers within reach. Its catalogue of praise included the town council, the district attorney's office and the marshal's office in general. Judge Robert W. Jennings, District Attorney James A. Smiser and his efficient assistants, Mr. J. Noll and Mr. John J. Regan, the U. S. marshal and the clerk of the court. The report would make a fine campaign document. —News

Printing Point Does Not Bob Up and Down

In an L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter the point on the paper which is to receive the type impression is stationary at the instant the type hits. The carriage does not bob up and down when the shift is made to write capitals.

Why?

Because the type is shifted—not the carriage.

The only movement of the carriage is back and forth on its closely adjusted ball bearing runways—and this does not take place while the print is being made. There is no lifting of the carriage.

This is one reason why L. C. Smith & Bros. type-writing is free from blurs and every letter in the right place.

THE SEATTLE SPIRIT--HOG.

By F. E. BUTLER.

The year 1917 will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the purchase of Alaska from Russia. For some time the fair and prosperous city of the Tanana, Fairbanks, has been advocating the scheme of commemorating the event in a proper manner in that city which is certainly right and highly commendable. But, as usual, as soon as a proposition is promulgated in Alaska by Alaskans pertaining to Alaska the Seattle "spirit" (hog) pops up and like the octopus it is, endeavors to grab everything in sight and then some. Now if anyone can explain why the observance of this event should be held in Seattle programed and staged by Seattleites instead of Alaskans, Sourdough if you like, we would like them to stand up and be counted.

Of course we are ready to admit that Alaska made Seattle and we are equally ready to admit that Seattle has done all, by extraordinary prices charged for supplies, foodstuffs, etc, shipped into the country, and low and ruinous prices paid for products—compelled, by reason of transportation facilities, shipped to that port, to grab every dollar that the pioneer, prospector and fisherman by sturdy industry has produced, we are not ready to admit or are we willing to concede to that city the right or privilege to dictate the manner or place of holding a celebration of the acquisition of our fair Territory by the United States.

So we say if there is to be anything done in commemoration of the event let it be done in Alaska and let the people who belongs to Alaska and live here have something to say about it. Therefore as Fairbanks has started the movement let us all give her our hearty support, regardless of the fact that we of the First Division may feel aggrieved at the treatment the representatives in the late legislature from the other divisions gave us.

Show the Big Spirit—For Alaska.

Ancient History Is Reacted

Writing in "The Daily Mail", London, Eng., Sir Hanbury Brown passes on the interesting information that the point where the Turks attempted to cross the Suez Canal in the early hours of February 3rd is where Professor Dr. Edouard Naville, and those who agree with him, locate the passage of the Red Sea by the Israelites.

There, where the Turkish soldiers in pontoons were overthrown "in the mid-t of the sea," Pharaoh's chariots and horsemen had been overwhelmed by the returning water in the morning watch 3,142 years before.—War Cry.

Needed Help.

"A brawny negro," said Robert Edson, "was once employed as a stevedore on the docks at Memphis to help unload a cargo from the steamer Anna P. Silver.

"The negro was carrying anvils ashore, and so great was his strength that he carried one under each arm. "In crossing the narrow gangplank with an anvil under each arm the negro slipped and fell into the water. "He came up puffing and blowing. "Frow down er rope!" he yelled. "The men on board laughed at him in derision. "Frow down er rope!" pleaded the negro, treading water vigorously. "Getting nothing but jeers, the negro cried excitedly: "Frow down er rope or I'll drop one of dese anvils."—Young's Magazine.

Very Different Trials.

Tess—Aren't you going to choir rehearsal tonight? Jess—No. Tess—You'd better. We're going to give that new hymn a trial. Jess—Can't. I am going to give a new him a trial myself.

HOPE.

Youth is only another name for happiness, and you do not begin to grow old until you lose hope, for without hope happiness is impossible.

She Talked Too Much.

She was pretty, as pretty as any bisque doll that any one ever admired and then grew tired of. She met a young chap. "I just love an educated person," she said, giggling. "Why, the man that I go with is just the best educated man I ever seen. He went all through high school and then went to Hartford college." "What college?" asked her escort. "Why, Hartford," she said, "the one that is opposite to Yale." Then her escort fled.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

GRATITUDE.

Gratitude is the fairest blossom that springs from the soul, and the heart of man knoweth none so fragrant, while its opponent, ingratitude, is a deadly weed, not only poisonous in itself, but impregnating the very atmosphere in which it grows with fetid vapors.

Clippings From Our Exchanges

Douglas has the only Lutheran church in Alaska.

Fire destroyed three houses at Whitehorse last week.

The Spence family are all finding employment at Valdez.

Skagway has decided to stamp out the dandelion evil along with other things.

The Valdez Civic League has a lawn mower which it offers to loan to any one who will use it.

The Tanana river is clear of ice. Contrary to custom the bridge across the slough to Garden island did not go out this year.

The wets have a majority at Valdez of nearly three to one.

A Ketchikan carpenter shop turns out a complete skiff every three hours.

The rate of a cent a word for press matter going over the Alaska cable may be doubled. An exchange predicts it will make little ones out of big ones.

If the experts keep on figuring, they may presently announce that Alaska is a billion dollar country. It is half way there already.—Seattle Times.

According to present plans the Copper River & Northwestern railway will maintain its present schedule of two trains a week throughout the summer.

That Stroller White, of the Whitehorse Star, still wanders about nights is evident when we read the following item in his paper: Mosquitos made their appearance here several evenings ago and are now both numerous and active along the waterfront and in the bush.

A Douglas preacher, in his zeal over the wet or dry question, last Sunday night publicly insulted a majority of the wives and mothers on Douglas Island. His mouth is his own and he was in his own pulpit, so there is nothing to be done. The Lord may forgive him, but the mothers who vote wet that their children may have a school to go to, and the manly men who love their wives, never will in a thousand years.

We Needed Proof.
It was after 10 o'clock at night, and the jury had just been discharged. A stout jurymen came over to the reporters' table. He had a worried look.
"You are an Evening News man, aren't you?"
"Yes."
"Are you going to report this case?"
"Yes."
"For tomorrow's paper?"
"Yes."
"Would you mind putting in a line saying that the jury was out until 10 o'clock?"
"I'll mention it, if you wish."
"I certainly hope you will. You have no idea how much I want you to. You are a young man and probably you're not married yet, but some day you'll have a wife, and then you'll understand."—Newark News.

Them Hand Bags.
The hand bag that the lady wore was wide and deep—immense—And it said bag the lady bore. One spoon of thread, Fourteen hairpins, Eight perfectly good buttons, One thimble, Three car tickets, One recipe for sponge cake, One manicure set, Six samples, One handkerchief, Two yards of ribbon, One powder puff, One chamois skin, Three headache powders, One flock of keys, One package of chewing gum, One mirror, Two postage stamps, Fifty-seven varieties of dingbats And seven cents.
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

She Said It.
A visitor of noble birth was expected to arrive at a large country house in the north of England, and the daughter of the house, aged seven, was receiving final instructions from her mother.
"And now, dear," she said, "when the duke speaks to you do not forget always to say 'your grace.'"
Presently the great man arrived, and after greeting his host and hostess he said to the child, "Well, my dear, and what is your name?" Judge of his surprise when the little girl solemnly closed her eyes and with clasped hands exclaimed, "For what we are about to receive may we be truly thankful, amen."—Ladies' Home Journal.

No Hero.
I never, never rode to hounds Across the fields and brooks Or drove a golf ball out of bounds As people do in books.
I never talked in epigrams To girls in cozy nooks Or passed around those witty slams As people do in books.
I never entertained a king Or went out after rooks— In short, I've never done a thing That people do in books.
—Kansas City Journal.

Hospitality.
A tourist who had been caught in a severe storm up in the highlands congratulated himself, after finding a solitary cottage, on being asked to stay overnight.
After dinner, while wearing a suit of the gild man's clothes till his own were dry, he met the mistress on the stairs with a broom in her hand, and she, mistaking the stranger for her husband, gave him a thump on the head with the broom, remarking, "That's for askin' the man to stay a' night!"—London Weekly Telegraph.

The Old Chuck Wagon.
Oh, pard, I know the feelin's that are gnawin' in yer breast When you've rode a bronc' all mornin' an' are achin' fer a rest! It's then yer eyes go roamin' for the shinin' wagon top An' the campfire which announces it's the place fer you to stop An', gee, the call of "grub pile!" There's nothin' half so sweet As to quit yer tired broncho an' squat down an' eat an' eat.
—Los Angeles Express.

No Partiality.
Barber—What will you have on your hair?
Customer—Don't get funny. I've got more than one hair.
Barber—So I see. Pardon me. I meant what you have on both.—Brooklyn Life.

Sarcasm.
"Pa, what's sarcasm?" "Pastin' a 'Shake well before takin' slip on a bottle of ague cure."—Satire.

Went Him One Better.
Phlander Chase Knox was a diplomat long before he became secretary of state. A good many years ago he and ex-President Harrison represented a group of big railroads in the middle west in an extremely important case, which they won. Two months later they met in New York.
"Well," said Harrison with some pride, "I charged those railroads $25,000—and got it!"
"I congratulate you," said Knox quietly. "I charged them $125,000. I also got it."—New York Tribune.

A Bold Court Fool.
Ferdinand II. was a man of very uncertain moods and would allow his temper to take liberties with him one day while resenting any familiarity the next. One day he turned round on him, his favorite fool, and thundered, "Fellow, be silent. I never stoop to talk to a fool."
"Never mind that," answered Jonas. "I do. So please listen to me in your turn."
